Don Hanna of McGregor Plant Sales will be leaving the company to open missionary farm in Panama.

Don Hanna has been a California sales representative for McGregor Plant Sales since 1997. Don will be using his personal savings and his own property in Panama to set up a free farm. The purpose of the farm is to provide free access to land and to teach local farmers how to grow a more diverse crop of fruits and vegetables. Today many Panamanians grow and consume yucca as the main dietary staple and Don's goal is to increase their nutritional diet with a greater variety of fruits and vegetables. Don commented that the soil and climate are perfect for many products at his farm which is at 800 feet above sea level.

Don will be working closely with a Catholic Church to set the project up as they already have a successful self sustaining organic farm nearby and this will be his model. The Adventist Church will be working with Don in teaching people nutrition which is their forte.

If you would like to contact him, Don Hanna's email address in Panama is donhnn@yahoo.com

Mcgregor Plant Sales Congratulates Don in his new venture.
